FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT DISCLOSURE AND AUTHORIZATION

As an applicant or during the course of your employment/membership with Geronimo Village VFD you are a "consumer" with rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act (the "FCRA"). This Disclosure and Authorization is provided to summarize your rights under the FCRA and to confirm your consent to allow the Geronimo Village VFD to obtain information regarding your credit history and possibly other information on your background such as your motor vehicle records and any criminal records for the purpose of considering you for employment/membership or for continued employment/membership.

PLEASE NOTE: THIS AUTHORIZATION IS TO OBTAIN YOUR CREDIT RECORDS AND POSSIBLY MOTOR VEHICLE AND CRIMINAL RECORDS, WHICH THE FCRA DEFINES AS "CONSUMER RECORDS."

The FCRA gives you specific rights designed to promote accuracy and fairness in consumer reports, as well as privacy of information that is to be used only for permitted purposes. Motor vehicle records and criminal background checks are "consumer reports." The FCRA permits the Geronimo Village VFD to obtain a consumer report from a consumer reporting agency for the purpose of (1) considering your application for employment/membership; (2) making a decision whether to offer you employment; (3) deciding whether to continue your employment/membership; (4) making other employment/membership decisions related directly to you. The only consumer reports the Geronimo Village VFD will consider in making such decisions are your credit reports and possibly motor vehicle records and your criminal background checks.

Generally, your rights under the FCRA include (1) your right to be told if information from a consumer report is being used against you, together with contact information about the consumer reporting agency that provided the report; (2) your right to find out what is in your file with the consumer reporting agency, including who has requested information from your file; (3) your right to dispute inaccurate information with the consumer reporting agency; (4) your right to seek damages from violators of the FCRA. You may request in writing, additional disclosures regarding the nature and scope of any investigation requested and a written summary of your rights under the FCRA.

AUTHORIZATION

By signing below, I, _____, hereby voluntarily authorize the Geronimo Village VFD to obtain either a consumer report or an investigative consumer report about me from a consumer reporting agency and to consider this information when making decisions concerning my employment with the Geronimo Village VFD. I understand that the Geronimo Village VFD may obtain such reports at various times throughout my employment/membership for the purposes set forth above in the disclosure, including the evaluation of my eligibility for employment or continued employment. I understand that I have rights under the Fair Credit Reporting Act and acknowledge receipt of the Disclosure set forth above.

A SUMMARY OF YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE FAIR CREDIT REPORTING ACT

The Federal Fair Credit Reporting Act (FCRA) is designed to promote accuracy, fairness, and privacy of information in the files of every "Consumer Reporting Agency" (CRA). Most CRA's are credit bureaus that gather and sell information about you - - - such as if you pay your bills on time and have filed bankruptcy - to creditors, employers, landlords, and other businesses. You can find the complete text of the FCRA, 15USC §§ 1681-1681 u, at the Federal Trade Commissions web site (<http://www.ftc.gov>). The FCRA gives you specific rights, as outlined below. You may have additional rights under state law. You may contact a state or local consumer protection agency or a state attorney general to learn those rights.

- You must be told if information in your file has been used against you. Anyone who uses information from a CRA to take action against you - such as denying an application for credit, insurance, or employment - must tell you, and give you the name, address, and phone number of the CRA that provided the consumer report.
- You can find out what is in your file. At your request, a CRA must give you the information in your file, and a list of everyone who has requested it recently. There is no charge for the report if a person has taken action against you because of information supplied by the CRA, if you request the report within 60 days of receiving notice of the action. You are also entitled to one free report every twelve months upon request if you certify that (1) you are unemployed and plan to seek employment within 60 days, (2) you are on welfare, or (3) your report is inaccurate due to fraud. Otherwise, a CRA may charge you up to eight dollars.
- You can dispute inaccurate information with the CRA. If you tell a CRA that your file contains inaccurate information, the CRA must investigate the items (usually within 30 days) by presenting to its information source all relevant evidence you submit, unless your dispute is frivolous. (The source also must advise national CRA's - to which it has provided the data - of any error). The CRA must give you a written report of the investigation and a copy of your request if the investigation results in any change. If the CRA's investigation does not resolve the dispute, you may add a brief statement to your file. The CRA must normally include a summary of your statement in future reports. If an item is deleted or a dispute statement is filed, you may ask that anyone who has recently received your report be notified of the change.
- Inaccurate information must be corrected or deleted. A CRA must remove or correct inaccurate information or unverified information from its files, usually within 30 days after you dispute it. However, the CRA is not required to remove accurate data from your file unless it is outdated (as described below) or cannot be verified. If you dispute results in any change to your report, the CRA cannot reinsert into your file a disputed item unless the information source verifies its accuracy and completeness. In addition, the CRA must give you a written notice telling you it has reinserted the item. The notice must include the name, address and phone number of the information source.
- You can dispute inaccurate items with the source of the information. If you tell anyone - such as a creditor who reports to a CRA - that you dispute an item, they may not then report the information to a CRA without including a notice of your dispute. In addition, once you've notified the source of the error in writing, it may not continue to report the information if it is, in fact, an error.
- Outdated information may not be reported, in most cases, a CRA may not report negative information that is more than seven years old; ten years for bankruptcies.
- Access to your file is limited. A CRA may provide information about you only to people with a need recognized by the FCRA - usually to consider an application with a creditor, insurer, employer, landlord, or other business.
- Your consent is required for reports that are provided to employers or reports that contain medical information. A CRA may not give information about you to your employer, or prospective employer, without your written consent. A CRA may not report medical information about you to creditors, insurers, or employers without your permission.

- You may choose to exclude your name from CRA lists for unsolicited credit and insurance offers. Creditors and insurers may use file information as the basis for sending you unsolicited offers of credit or insurance. Such offers must include a toll-free phone number for you to call if you want your name and address removed from future lists. If you call, you must be kept off the lists for two years. If you request, complete, and return the CRA from provided for this purpose, you must be taken off the lists indefinitely.

The FCRA gives several different federal agencies authority to enforce the FCRA.
